WHAT TO EXPECT WHEN YOU COME TO SI:

- Bring your books and notes! You will refer to your book(s) and notes throughout the SI session.
- The SI Leader does not re-lecture material from class or teach new information. The SI Leader is there to model good student behaviors and effective strategies, and facilitate active learning and discussion.
- Do not expect a worksheet or homework review. A Leader may use a handout for various processes, but this should not be expected at every session. Handouts in sessions are meant to facilitate student-centered learning. Leaders may address problems or content that is similar to that on the homework, however Leaders will not cover problems/material specifically referenced in assigned homework.
- Expect the leader to be prepared and plan something to organize the time. The SI Leader is there to make sure the session is efficient.
- Be ready to talk to your classmates - the SI model is based on interaction!
- SI is the place to make mistakes. SI Leaders are your near peers and you are surrounded by classmates who also want to work towards mastery of the content. The SI Leader is not involved in grading, and they do not report to instructors on students' performance or attendance at SI sessions.
- There are some students who think that SI is only for "A" students, and there are some students who think that you only go to SI if you are about to fail the class. SI is designed to help students are every knowledge level. The evidence shows that students who attend SI regularly earn a higher grade.
- You can bring food; sessions are informal!
- SI is free.
